I. INSTRUCTIONS AND DEFINITIONS

A. “Plaintiff,” “debtor,” “Billy,” and/or “you” means Terisha Lynn Billy, the plaintiff in this matter, whether known by that name or any other.

B. Plaintiff’s responses to these interrogatories must include all information known to Plaintiff, investigators, experts, and agents, and all information otherwise reasonably available to Plaintiff whether or not Plaintiff believes the information may be relevant.

C. For any question answered in whole or in part by answering under oath that you are “not sure,” your “investigation is continuing,” or any substantially similar indication of a lack of finality in the response or absence of response, Plaintiff shall state what inquiry has been done so far, what documents or other records were reviewed, the nature of such continuing investigation, the name, most recent available address and telephone number of each person and/or entity conducting each such investigation or inquiry, and the projected completion date of each such investigation or inquiry.

D. If you gathered, sent, received, or used any records or documents to formulate the responses, or if any of the answers to these interrogatories are or may be derived from such records or documents in Plaintiff’s possession or under Plaintiff’s control, please identify each of the documents with specificity (as “identify” is defined below), and state when and where they will be available to counsel for the United States for inspection and copying in accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 33(c).

E. As used herein, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated below:

i. “Person” or “individual” means natural persons, corporations, partnerships, sole proprietorships, unions, associations, federations, or any other kind of entity.

ii. “Records” or “documents” are interchangeable terms and each is defined as including, but not limited to, the original and any non-identical copy (which is different from the original because of notations upon the copy or otherwise) of all correspondence, emails, social media or other online media-sharing posts, notes, contracts, agreements, memoranda, calendars, task lists, letters, photos or drawings, sound recordings, transcripts, text and instant messages, computer generated files or printouts, receipts, statements (whatever the statement period), withdrawal and deposit slips, checks (including both sides) and bank records, and any other similar recorded evidence of fact, knowledge, intent, or motive, whether in print or any electronic form. If Plaintiff does not have custody or control of the original, Plaintiff shall include any copies of such materials.

iii. When used with respect to a person or an entity, “identify” or “describe” shall mean to state the person or entity’s full legal name, any known aliases, social security or tax identification number, present or last known contact information (including home and/or business address, telephone numbers, and email addresses) and relationship with Plaintiff.

iv. When used with respect to one or more “records” or “documents,” “identify” or “describe” means to state the document’s title and subject matter, its date, its author(s) and person(s) signing or executing the document, its senders(s), its recipient(s), location, length, format, and present custodian.

v. When used with respect to an event, occurrence, or efforts taken, “identify” means to state what happened, why, where, when, and who was present, including their present or last known contact information (including home and/or business address, telephone numbers, and email addresses) and in what capacity they were present.

F. If any document or record once existed but was deleted, whether intentionally or unintentionally, or otherwise is no longer in the control of the person specified, separately identify the document or record, and its content, the date it was given or received, the creator, the giver, the recipient, and state when, why and how it was deleted or otherwise removed from the control of the person listed, and by whom, and where the record was last possessed, stored and/or viewed.

G. These requests are deemed to be continuing in nature so that any new information, records or documents received, discovered, remembered or otherwise arising subsequent to the filing and serving of the initial production which could result in any deletion from, clarification of, addition to, or modification of the initial responses, are to be immediately communicated to the United States and supplemental responses are to be consummated.

H. “Debt Origination Date” is the date you first incurred any debts you are seeking to discharge in this action whether such debt was later consolidated, refinanced, rejected, reaffirmed, or otherwise restructured in any way.

II. INTERROGATORIES

1. Identify all debts you are seeking to discharge in this action. Please list the date first incurred, whether such debt was later consolidated, refinanced, reaffirmed, rejected, or otherwise restructured in any way, the amount originally owed, any amounts refinanced, the current amount now owed, the originator and present loan holder, the loan repayment period, and the present status of each loan, include whether any loan is in forbearance, a payment plan, default or other status.

2. State all information on which you base your contention that repaying your student loans will impose an undue hardship upon you and your dependents. Identify all documents you rely upon in answering this interrogatory. This includes but is not limited to medical or mental health records, employment records, school records, financial records, and records related to the claimed financial hardship of you, your dependents, or any member of your household.

3. If your contention that repaying your student loans will impose a burden is based in any part on a physical, mental, emotional, or other health condition, please identify the condition(s); date(s) of onset and duration; expected prognosis; tests or treatments being pursued to alleviate the condition(s); name(s) and address(es) of the diagnostic and treatment provider(s) (whether a licensed physician or otherwise); dates of any hospitalizations as well as any outpatient, diagnostic, surgical, or other treatment procedures; the cost(s) of each test, treatment, stay, procedure, medication; and any other expense related to your condition(s); and the amount paid for each of these by you and the amount abated or paid by any other source (insurance, hospital, charity, crowd-sourcing).

4. Identify all addresses where you have lived for more than 30 days (cumulative), starting with the Debt Origination Date and continuing to the present, and identify each individual who has lived in your household during this period or which you have otherwise claimed as a dependent.
